Howdy Gulls!

Summer 2017 is coming to a close as I write this. The summer season has been full of activities. Ray Pili has kept the slope busy with a couple of fun flies, and the Thermal guys have kept the monthly TD and DLG contest going throughout the summer. As usual, some of the events had more participation than others due to everyone's summer vacation schedules, but there has been a steady supply of opportunities to fly most of the summer, and that's a good thing!

Many of us have enjoyed a very consistent summer of flying this year. The scale guys usually fly on Mondays; the VP, Ian flies on Tuesdays when he's not teaching; some of us sneak out after 2 pm on Wednesdays for a mid-week break, and you can usually count on having company on Friday afternoons. This summer we have had great representation at the cliffs most weekends. Weekends are always a little crowded with tourist and paraglider traffic, but we all help each other out with spotting callouts to make the traffic and stray tourist are a bit more manageable. The fall flying season kicks off in just a couple of days. We have TD and DLG monthly contests on the calendar to finish out the year, a couple more LSF attempt events and another fun fly at the end of September. The TPG board is planning to have a Holiday/Awards dinner on Tuesday of December 5th, so save the date!

Last up, I want to encourage members to consider stepping up and participating on the TPG board. We can always use some new ideas to keep the club on track, and planning for future sustainment. If you have ever thought you might be interested being on the TPG board, we meet the first Tuesday of the month at the Del Mar Denny's at 6 pm.....stop by and check out how we make the TPG bacon!

Well, that's all I have for now. Be sure to check the TPGulls website calendar for upcoming events!

Till next month, fly more, host a flying event, and think about joining the TPGulls board.....we always need some new ideas!

Cheers!

Dan Cummins

Dale Gottdank

Please contribute to our GULL WINGS NEWSLETTER

Send pictures, or maybe even an article! It could be just a paragraph with some photos from a great soaring day ...even something interesting you've seen on the internet. I'd like to have the newsletter published by the first week of every month. If there's a project you're working on, don't just post it on RCGroups...share it with your club! This month, we have an excellent article from Will Bushnell about his introduction to the Torrey Pines Gliderport and we'll be continuing our series by Gary Fogel on the club's history with the 1975 Modeler of the Year.

Please send in your articles or photos (dgottdank@gmail.com) by the 25th of each month so they can be included in the monthly newsletter. If there are too many, we'll save them for the next issue. The newsletter can be found on the Torrey Pines Gulls website at <http://www.torreypinesgulls.org>

Club Membership Update – Bill Eckles

Bill Eckles

Our chore now is to get wound up for 2018, as we added only one new member since the last newsletter.

It has been a very good summer though, with some excellent flying at the Gliderport, contest activity in slope combat, hand launch and thermal duration, lots of individual activity "off-campus" and significant activity improving LSF levels.

We'll begin planning the New Year in October/November and back at recruiting new memberships in December/January. Enjoy the rest of the year and get some new building going for winter's down time.

Fly well and fly safely,

Bill Eckles
Membership Chairman

News from the Slope – Ray Pili, Slope Coordinator

Ray Pili

It's the most wonderful time of the year:
Back to School!!

There were two Fun Fly events at Torrey this summer.

June 26th was the Twisty Wing/Pointy Nose Fetish Fun Fly. Unfortunately, no one took pictures which means the flying was good!

August 26th was the Scale Fun Fly attended by over a dozen pilots bringing 3 dozen planes. Conditions were overcast with light west winds with lift from 11 till past 5 pm.

Gregg Bolton's "scale" Nyx

Mark B on the Buddy Box with Ian. Mark is getting back to RC Gliders.

September 30th is the next Fun Fly. Bring out your vintage sailplanes and planes to sell/swap.

SAFETY

REMINDER

All pilots who fly Torrey must:

- Be an AMA Member
- Have Signed the Gliderport Liability Waiver and paid the Day Use Fee
- Been Rated by TPG or TPSSS
- Follow the Blue Sky Rule

No exceptions.

Repeat, No exceptions.

If you see Burt Rutan walk up and launch a model Catbird, you as a Gulls member should challenge him to make sure he's rated and has signed in at the Gliderport.

If you see our past president Marty flying his Espada like a drunken sailor, ignoring the Blue Sky Rule, say something.

If the skies get crowded, spot for each other. Help each other out.

Blue Skies,

Ray

100 Days at Torrey Pines – Will Bushnell

When Will Bushnell had an opportunity to temporarily relocate from the East Coast to San Diego in 2014, he embarked on a journey that would lead to an epic slope soaring adventure. He recounted his experience in an excellent article recently published in the September issue of RCSD (Radio Controlled Soaring Digest). This is part 1 of the article with part 2 to follow.

The first page of the article is reprinted here. To read the rest, click on the link below. Enjoy!

100 DAYS AT TORREY PINES

Will Bushnell. will.bushnell@gmail.com

"Do you know of anyone willing to go to San Diego for six to nine months?" Email from my boss.

"Me!" My immediate reply.

So began a slope soaring adventure of a lifetime. I had been flying RC sailplanes since 1978 and though I had done some sloping it had never been enough. Right after sending the reply I Googled the biotech where I would be working and saw it was two miles inland from Torrey Pines!

This all started in March 2014, by May I was in an apartment in La Jolla Shores, three miles from the Torrey Pines (TP) Gliderport. Six to nine months was extended to one year. The company paid to move some household goods which included a large, coffin sized, plywood box full of sailplanes. I was very busy with my new job and used most of May to get up to speed but also, while my planes were in transit, to get "legal" at Torrey Pines.

Getting "legal" included joining the Torrey Pines Gulls, signing the 11 page release form at the TP Gliderport (and paying $150 for the last half of the year). The Gliderport now requires a videotaped legal release and the price has gone up to $200, the daily fee is $10.

The next important step was getting in touch with the TP Gulls check pilots to be cleared to fly without supervision. Marty Dine was the club president at the time and bent over backwards to make sure I got set up to fly, thanks Marty. Bill Eckles, the membership chairman also worked hard to make sure I got connected. It took till the end of May when it all came together: me, glider, west wind, Bill Eckles.

TPG History: The Trophy – Gary Fogel

This Month: Alex Mladineo, 1975 Modeler of the Year

In 1974, the club was pleased to have new member Alex Mladineo take the reigns as newsletter editor. Larry Fogel and Ken Banks supplied material, while Alex went through the monthly trouble of diligently typing it all up, making copies by hand, and distributing through the US Mail. Under Alex's stewardship, the newsletter became re-titled as the more formal "Journal of the Torrey Pines Gulls RC Soaring Society."

Alex found the TPG through a circuitous route. Working as a process engineer for a company in Rancho Bernardo, he was first introduced to RC sailplanes when his boss began building a Windward as a diversion. Many in the company became interested with the plans and progress, and soon Alex visited a local hobby shop to purchase a kit.

Once the gliders were built, they would fly from a hill near Rancho Bernardo, before Alex finally had the idea of going to the Gliderport to hook up with other RCers. He started flying regularly at Torrey, and also at Hourglass Field, the Gulls thermal location near Mira Mesa.

Alex rapidly took to thermal duration contest formats. For instance, at the 1975 North-South Meet in Bakersfield, Alex placed 4th overall in standard class precision duration. He also became a contest director and helped organize meets – for instance one of the first club "build-and-fly" contests was CD'd by Alex on July 12, 1975 at Torrey. At these events, a load of balsa (typically donated by Mark Smith of Mark's Models) would arrive at Torrey by pickup truck early in the morning.

This was dumped in the pit area and builders would gather to check out the wood and select their grain. At 9:30 the contest would begin and, as was so eloquently reported by Alex in the newsletter "by 11:30, 5 tons of wood were reduced to 50 lbs. of planes and 9950 lbs. of scrap wood and shavings." The first glider to launch, fly successfully and land back on top of the cliff was declared the winner. On that day in 1975, the winner was Ken Banks with his plane called "Haven't the Slightest Idea". Other creative aircraft names that day included "Don't Tell Me to Name It," "The Mess," "Kiss of Fire," and "Oh God."

Alex's tenure as newsletter editor ended in 1976 and he began to focus more on contest soaring but was awarded the Modeler of the Year trophy at the club banquet on January 31, 1976 for his efforts to run the newsletter and bring new modelers into the club. He took first place at the club thermal contest in February 1976 and, along with Al Doig, Ed Hoppe, and Randy Warner began training other new pilots to fly in contest formats. They established a "pro-am" format where thermal contests were scored using different constraints based on the pilot classification. For instance a pro would have to land in a small circle while an amateur would have to land in a larger area. Pros were assigned to amateurs at the start of the contest and helped with suggestions throughout the morning.

Most pilots, like Alex, were flying Windfree sailplanes. In about 1976/1977, Alex switched to a Windrifter. The 1977 NATS were held in Riverside at March AFB.

The RC soaring component was held to the SE of that location, closer to Gilman Hot Springs. Someone should have just named it "Gilman Hot" because it was hot enough without the springs – the daily temps during the contest were 110F. Alex came in 8th in the Modified Standard Class. At the 1977 LSF Tournament, held at Dominguez College near Los Angeles, Alex flew superbly, earning him first place in Standard out of 47 contestants! This put him on the national scene. After watching Skip Miller fly at the NATS with an Aquila, Alex knew he had to have one and enjoyed that for the rest of his time in RC soaring. He began on the LSF achievement program, and got stuck at Level IV and the difficulty of XC soaring. Unfortunately, in the early 1980s, he had to focus on his business and family obligations. He drifted away from RC soaring in pursuit of other life goals and hobbies. He would, on occasion, pop back in at Torrey to see the latest happenings.

I had the pleasure of chatting with Alex on August 13, 2017. He is now in his mid-80s and he and his wife have enjoyed 60 years of marriage. He still lives in San Diego and was pleased to hear that the club is researching this early history. He wished to be remembered to TPGers.

I also wish to thank Alex as he (along with many others at the time) helped teach me to fly. My brother David Fogel was a weekly student of Alex's in 1976 and at the 1977 NATS, David took first place in the junior category with Alex right along his side as his spotter. His patience and ability to take time with others who were learning was very inspirational.
